

ALAYNE J. REID, RN, BN, MHSCED, MNURSING(CANCERNURSING)

BOARD-CERTIFIED
CANCER NURSE

Logan Campus Griffith University
University Drive, Meadowbrook 4131, Australia | +61 7 3735 7111

A well-versed cancer nurse, Alayne J. Reid, RN, BN, MHScEd, MNursing(Cancer), currently serves as Clinical Facilitator at Griffith University in Brisbane, QLD, Australia. With more than four decades of experience, she is highly-regarded as an expert in cancer nursing.

Alayne completed her hospital-based nursing degree at Princess Alexandra Hospital in 1978 and received her Bachelor of Nursing degree in 1994 at the University of New England, where she also earned her Postgraduate Diploma in Nursing Education in 1995. In 2000, she graduated with her Master Nursing (Cancer) from Queensland University of Technology, followed by her Master of Health Science (Education) degree at the University of Sydney in 2002. Alayne additionally holds a Certificate IV in Training and Assessment from Rose Training Australia acquired in 2011.

TOP
CANCER NURSE
in Australia

EDUCATION

- Princess Alexandra Hospital
- University of New England
- Queensland University of Technology
- University of Sydney
- Rose Training Australia

AWARDS

- Chemotherapy/Biotherapy Certified
- Member of the Royal College of Nursing
- Member of the Australian Nurse Teachers Society

ALAYNE J. REID, RN

“ Alayne believes that nursing is a very practice based profession and students require time with real patients under supervision to enable them to apply theory to practice. Student nurses need competent nurturing in order to become the nurses of tomorrow. ”