A seasoned registered nurse and midwife, Caryl P. Wynne, RN., RM., B.App.Sci.(Ad.Nrsg.), MNurs Studies., MMgmt., MCLinMid., has a diversified nursing background with expertise in clinical midwifery, acute care, primary care, and intensive care. Caryl works at three locations of Monash Health, including Monash Health Bureau Casual Nurse Bank (CasCom), Dandenong Hospital, and Monash Medical Centre in Clayton, VIC, Australia, and in the Emergency Department at Casey Hospital in Berwick, VIC. Her academic achievements encompass her Bachelor of Applied Science in Advanced Nursing (Adv. Clinical), Master of Nursing Studies (M. Nurs. Studies), Master of Management (MMgmt.), and Master in Clinical Midwifery Degree (MCLinMid.) obtained at Monash University in 2012. Prior to emigrating to Melbourne, Victoria, Australia in June 1978, Caryl completed her State Nursing Registration (RN) in the U.K at West Middlesex Hospital. She completed her Midwifery qualifications at St. Mary's Hospital in Paddington, London, U.K, as well as x2 post-graduate qualifications in Intensive Care at St. Thomas's Hospital in Waterloo, London, and in Coronary Care at Leicester Royal Infirmary in Leicester, U.K. She made the decision to consolidate her knowledge of adult acute care and work in Coronary Care Units (CCU's) and Intensive Care Units (ICU).

From 1990 to 1993, Caryl's husband was relocated to Boston, Massachusetts in the United States. She completed some subjects at Boston College, contributing towards her Master's Degree at Latrobe University. While in the U.S, she worked on an acute cardiac ward for two days a week for 18 months unpaid. Upon returning to Melbourne, Caryl accepted a Unit Manager job on a busy Acute Cardiac/Thoracic public hospital ward, and from 1993 to 1995 worked as a project facilitator implementing care maps and clinical pathways. She participated in presentations regarding this work at several conferences during this time. Throughout her career, she has worked in many areas of the nursing field, in increasingly senior positions. Caryl has published numerous papers, including "Is there a place for Managed Care?" which was presented at the Australian & New Zealand Intensive Care Society meeting for the Victoria Branches in June 1995, 9th Continuing Education Meeting. Caryl remains a distinguished member of the Australian Nursing and Midwifery Federation, the College of Nursing, the Cardiac Society of Australia and New Zealand, the Australian College of Midwives, and the Maternity Coalition. Presently, Caryl works at Monash Health as a Grade 2 Midwife who practices independently and interdependently, assuming accountability and responsibility for her own actions. As a Midwife, it is her responsibility to plan, implement, and maintain an acceptable standard of midwifery care for women across the pregnancy continuum. She is passionate about her work as a midwife and seeks opportunities to excel whenever possible, and she truly enjoys every aspect of her work.
