Nyree L. Parker, RN, BN, CCEN, MN, MEMERG MG is an established Registered Nurse in Victoria, Australia, who features over two decades of experience in her field. Nyree's career in nursing began in 1991 when she graduated with her Diploma in Applied Sciences from Monash University, where she also received her Bachelor Degree of Nursing in 1992. She then went on to obtain her Diploma of Critical Care Nursing majoring in Emergency Care (1997), a Master Degree of Nursing (2001), and a Master's Degree in Emergency Disaster Health (2013) at Monash University. In 1998, Nyree earned a postgraduate certification in health promotion from Deakin University. She is a Clinical Nurse Specialist and was a Trauma Nursing Core Course Instructor.

Nyree was honoured with the Dux of Group Award in 2009 and was a volunteer with St. John's Ambulance. She has acted as a Clinical Instructor of Emergency Management and Critical Care at Monash University, and is aiming to commence her PhD in Disaster Health looking at topics of climate change implications on emergency nurses and the role of an Emergency Management Consultant in the hospital environment. Presently, Nyree continues to provide exceptional care and support to her patients as a Clinical Nurse Specialist in the Emergency Department and Emergency Management and BCP Consultant in the Facilities Management Department at Peninsula Health in Victoria, Australia. This involves policy and procedure/plan writings for i.e. mass casualties incidents, CBR decontamination processes, pandemics, heatwaves, bushfires and severe weather impacting on the public hospital organisation.
