

George Renee Jones, LPN

GERIATRIC NURSE

Geogerenee graduated with her Nursing degree and as a Licensed Practical Nurse from the James Martin Vocational School in 1989, giving her over three decades of experience in her field. Furthering her education, she will graduated with here Bachelorette of Science Nursing from Newman University in 2020.

She currently practices as a Geriatric Nurse with Tucker House and is affiliated with Centennial Health Care and Bayada's Nurse where she holds an expertise in geriatric nursing, long term care, and homecare specialist and wound care. Seeing her own mother care for so many family member that were not her birth children along with other nurses work while she was growing up encouraged her to choose a career in nursing. She attributes her professional success to the support of her patients.

A geriatric nurse is a specialist who will help elderly patients recover from illness or injury by providing practical care and developing patient care plans. They may also help with rehabilitation and conduct check-ups in skilled care facilities or hospice facilities.

EDUCATION:

- Nursing Degree: James Martin Vocational School
- Bachelor's Degree: Newman University

EXPERTISE:

- Geriatric Nursing
- Long Term Care
- Homecare Specialist
- Wound Care

HOSPITAL AFFILIATIONS::

- Tucker House
- Centennial Health Care
- Bayada's Nurse

TOP GERIATRIC NURSE

in New York