

Maria Zaida, FNP-BC

CERTIFIED FAMILY NURSE
PRACTITIONER

 4035 95th Street, #1, Elmhurst, NY 11373

Maria graduated with her nursing degree and is certified as a Registered Nurse from the Universidad de Puerto Rico in 1984, giving her over three decades of experience in her field. Furthering her education, she completed her Bachelor of Science degree from York College New York in 2011 and her Master of Science in Nursing from Pace University New York in 2013. She is certified by the American Nurses Credentialing Center as a Family Nurse Practitioner.

To stay up to date in her field, Maria remains a professional member of the Hispanic Nurses Association New York Chapter and the American Association of Nurse Practitioners. She currently practices as a Family Nurse Practitioner at Marco A. Garcia Medical Center and at her own practice Elmhurst Medical Provider, Inc. She attributes her professional success to her passion.

Nurse Practitioners are registered nurses with specialized educational and clinical training in family practice. They have a higher degree of training in both the classroom and clinical setting than Registered Nurses (RN) do, although becoming an RN is a prerequisite.
