

Catherine Messenger, RN, MSN

NURSING

1650 Cowles St, Fairbanks, AK 99701

Catherine is a registered nurse who works at Fairbanks Memorial Hospital in Fairbanks, Alaska. Her areas of specialization include occupational health, cardiology, case management, neuroscience, pediatrics, and medical/surgical nursing.

Fairbanks Memorial Hospital opened its doors in 1972 thanks to the voluntary efforts and monetary contributions of the citizens of Fairbanks. The 152-bed hospital serves patients from throughout the Interior of Alaska and provides care in more than 27 specialties. As part of Foundation Health Partners, its mission states "People First. Community Focused. Excellence Every Time."

Back in 2007, Catherine earned her Associate's Degree in Nursing (ADN) from Casper College in Wyoming. Years later, in 2012, she went on to obtain her Master of Science in Nursing (MSN) degree in Leadership and Management from Walden University in Minneapolis, Minnesota.

To advance her professional development, she remains a member of several professional organizations, including the American Organization for Nursing Leadership and the American Nurses Association. She is a certified ergonomic assessment specialist and a safe patient handling professional, as well as holds a certification in Basic Life Support to be able to provide her patients with the best care possible.

Among her faculty appointments, Catherine has taught new graduate nurses at Wyoming Medical Center. For her clinical and academic excellence, she attributes her success to her resilience, drive, and work ethic instilled by her parents.
